Asakusa (浅草) is the center of Tokyo's shitamachi (literally "low city"), one of Tokyo's districts, where an atmosphere of the Tokyo of past decades survives.

One of the main attractions here is Sensoji, a very popular Buddhist temple, built in the 7th century. The temple is approached via the Nakamise, a shopping street that has been providing temple visitors with a variety of traditional, local snacks and tourist souvenirs for centuries.

The Tsukiji Fish Market has appeared in literally every guidebook about Tokyo and is high on most visitors' Tokyo bucket list. Although its main operation moved to TOYOSU, it still has many seafood shops open to the public.

14:45 Hamarikyu Gardens

Hama Rikyu (浜離宮, Hama Rikyū) is a large attractive landscape garden in central Tokyo alongside Tokyo Bay that features seawater ponds which changes level with the tides, and features a teahouse on an island where visitors can rest and enjoy the scenery.

Ginza (銀座) is Tokyo's most famous upmarket shopping, dining and entertainment district, featuring numerous department stores, boutiques, art galleries, restaurants, night clubs and cafes.
